“If you don’t feel like you belong in this world, it’s because you were born to create a new one.” – Inspiring words from LLMC participant Allison Somenzi, a proud Swiss Canadian woman with the resilience required to overcome her own life’s challenges and to support those trying to overcome theirs.

Allison registered for LLMC to become a more effective leader and decision-maker when navigating complex, multifaceted issues: “I joined LLMC because I believe in the power of mentorship and the importance of fostering meaningful connections that drive growth.”

LLMC provided Allison with a unique opportunity for personal and professional growth while contributing to a broader mission of empowerment and change. She added that her role “within this program is not only about my own growth but also about contributing to a collective mission of lifting others.”
