

OFFICIAL LANGUAGES DAY 2023

September 14, 2023

Our languages, a window to the world

Every year, we pay tribute to Canada's rich linguistic heritage on Official Languages Day (formerly known as Linguistic Duality Day). This year's event highlights the importance of Canada's official languages in shaping our society's identity and building connections with a broader world. It explores how languages open a window to different realities and opportunities, enabling us to discover and acquire new knowledge.

To celebrate Official Languages Day, activities are organized by the Council of the Network of Official Languages Champions, the Linguistic Duality Network, in collaboration with the Canada School of Public Service , the Translation Bureau, the Office of the Commissioner of Official Languages and other partners.

You don't want to miss the virtual event, open to the general public, on September 14, 2023, from 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. (ET)
